at Sekem, 'the miracle in the desert' with Global Partner Organisations and Homes for Humanity worldwide

Inaugural Week: 21 to 27 April 2024

The One Home Journey 2024-2030: 7 Years for 7 Generations was officially inaugurated with a 7- day launch in Egypt, starting on International Mother Earth Day, 22 April 2024. This visionary and inclusive future-building expedition to every country on Earth has been described as “a planetary journey to the rescue of the 2030 Agenda” by UN Today.

Stewarded by the Home for Humanity movement for planetary regeneration, the One Home Journey was inaugurated with a 7-day immersive launch programme, hosted by SEKEM, the world-renowned role model for sustainable development, dubbed “the miracle in the Egyptian desert”, in partnership with World Future Council.

The Historic Planetary Inauguration Ceremony held onsite at Sekem, Egypt, and online worldwide on 22 April, Mother Earth Day, was addressed by renowned leaders of the outstanding global organisations and social movements who are partnering with the One Home Journey, and by the pioneering founders of Homes for Humanity organisations on all continents.

In her opening invocation, Professor Jean Houston, Co-Chair of Home for Humanity, pronounced: “We are gathered here from every corner of the Earth not just to inaugurate the One Home Journey and to fling open the doors of the One Home Univ-EARTH-sity. We are here together to change the course of history. To write a new common story of life on Earth. This is a journey that needs the highest and truest of each one of us. This is a journey that needs us to be together, caring for and supporting each other and multiplying our potential as a collective movement of movements.”

“Every concerned Earth Citizen is invited to join us as an ‘Earth Voyager’ to travel virtually with us on the One Home Journey, and to join us – or even host us – as we move country to country, culture to culture, and home-to-home. Every motivated future-builder is welcome to enrol in the One Home UnivEARTHsity – the only qualification required is passion for future building!" said Prof. Alexander Schieffer, who, with his wife Dr. Rama Mani, is co-founder of the Home for Humanity movement and co-initiator of the One Home journey.

Dr. Rama Mani declared, "Every single person everywhere on Earth of all ages and backgrounds is and must be a co-creator of our new common story of an inclusive future for the indivisible family of life. The One Home Journey is offered to all humanity as our gift to serve as a collective accelerator for future building."

Sekem is an active co-creator of the One Home Journey, as a foundational Home for Humanity, together with its Heliopolis University for Sustainable Development. Helmy Abouleish, CEO of Sekem, underlined, "The One Home Journey is an incredible planetary incubation accelerator at this crucial time for our future, which everyone everywhere should join. Heliopolis University is embarking with you today to build up the unique One Home UnivEARTHsity for regenerative future building, because we know our students and faculty will optimise their future-building skills by co-learning and co-innovating with pioneers from around the world."

With this Inaugural Week of Integral Immersion of "7 Days for 7 Generations" at Sekem, Egypt, the One Home Journey's Planetary Inaugural Season has begun. We will be catalysing and connecting Earth Citizens around the globe through participatory online programmes open to all, and onsite programmes in all world regions, convened together with our global and local partners. The Inaugural Week in Sekem, Egypt was a powerful prototype of the One Home Journey’s integral immersion week in every country, engaging concerned Earth citizens to create together an inclusive, regenerative, peaceful, just and joyful future for all life on Earth.

Home for Humanity’s co-chair, Dr. Youssef Mahmoud from Tunisia, a former Under-Secretary General of the United Nations, summarized the integral future-building experiences of this Inaugural Week: “From witnessing Nature’s wonders in the Egyptian desert, to collective planting of the Olive Tree I was honoured to bring from Tunisia, symbolising Peace in the Unity Park, to discovering the pioneering practices and innovative methods for greening the desert, organic farming and social enterprises at Sekem, to launching a new cultural Home for Humanity and offering participatory performances with local artists in the Space of Culture, to Premiere screenings of award-winning filmmaker Eda Elif Tibet’s Home for Humanity movie, to hearing 7 year old school children’s dreams for our shared future, at the Sekem primary school, to engaging in transformative education seminars with Heliopolis University students, to piloting our Youth for the Future and Women for the Earth programmes, to an ‘Earth Agora’ – a planetary gathering with partner organisations and Homes for Humanity joining us worldwide – this week provided a powerful immersive glimpse of the One Home Journey’s acceleration potential to unleash the future-building capacity of humanity.”

This Inaugural week in Sekem showcased the exponential power of the proposed Integral Immersive experience of ‘7 Days for 7 generations’ that the One Home Journey will offer in every country on Earth over the next 7 years.

“As we immerse ourselves in NATURE, listen deeply to Indigenous elders and wisdom keepers, and as we create a Unity Park symbolising peace and unity with nature and between all cultures

As we preserve and revitalise CULTURE and cultivate Earth Artistry,

As we engage in transformative EDUCATION, with 7 year old school children and university students, as we mentor marginalised youth and women through our Youth for the Future and Women for the Earth Fellowships.

As we get inspired by the pioneering innovators and paradigm shifting initiatives of each society accelerating WHOLE SYSTEMS CHANGE for an inclusive and regenerative future,

As we ignite our HUMANITY IN UNITY, and catalyse and connect all aspiring future builders to unleash their purpose and potential in service to their communities and our Earth home, and interact with each other home to home as one interconnected family across all man-made borders, we will see the rapid emergence of nothing short of a Home on Earth for the indivisible family of life!’ concluded Rama Mani and Alexander Schieffer, at the end of this remarkable Inaugural week of the One Home Journey in Sekem, Egypt.
